near, the president is giving preliminary consideration to the national de fense budget out of which it is boned to lay down a stronger naval program than the United States ever had authorized in its history and, similarly, a larger provision for the military establishment than has been customacy in time of peace. The president has had before him for several weeks the outline of a military policy of a continuing character framed by Secretary Garrison, after more than a year's study with officers of the general staff. With it, the president is in hearty accord, regarding it as a conservative well-balanced program. While the details have not been revealed, a substantial increase in the regular army, probably from 87,000 to at least 429,000 men and the creation of a reserve of perhaps 400,000 men, through short term enlistment service of citizens interested in military training, are said to be parts of the

When the president and the secretaries of war and navy confer next week, it is understood, an effort will be meade to bring the total sum within the $400,000,000 mark, as at present the combined total which the two branches of the service will submit to the president, it is said, would make about $450,000,000. If the needs of the two services can be cut to $400,000,000, the total over last year would be about $140,000,000. The general view in administration quarters now is that a bond issue will be proposed as a means of meeting the added expense.

ON AUTO JUNKET IN BENNINGTON

tained This Noon

Made Short Speech at Bennington Club Rooms Complimenting County Roads

Gov. Charles W. Gates and sixtyfive members of the Brattleboro Board of Trade were guests of the Bennington Board of Trade for a brief period this noon at the rooms of the Bennington club.

The occasion was the annual automobile ride of the Brattleboro board which started from that town at 9 o'clock this morning and came across the state through Marlboro, Wilmington and Woodford. There were 21 cars in the junket nearly all of which made the trip without mishap.

With the governor were Stoddard Bates, state road commissioner, Hortton D. Walker, president of the Brattleboro Board of Trade and M. C. Houghton, ex-president of the same organization. The governor was in the fifth car which reached Bennington square at 10 minutes after twelve, the first car belonging to Maj. F. W. Childs and party.

The object of the junket was to compare the roads between Brattleboro and Bennington with the roads of Massachusetts and endeavor to ascertain what can be done toward bettering the cross-state highway. Incidentally it was an opportunity for the Brattleboro crowd to get better acquainted with their neighbors and save a good time. The crowd was met by a committee of representative business men headed by President William H. Nichols, Secretary E. S. Harris and Village President A. W. Braisted. Upon the arrival of the complete party the crowd was taken to the rooms of the Bennington club where, Miss Maude E. Harris, 31; fifth after light refreshments, President Nichols made a brief address of welcome and introduced Governor Gates. The Governor stated that he had consented to make the trip with the Brattleboro crowd for a three-fold purpose: Because he wished to get an idea of the condition of southern Vermont roads, to keep an eye on the Brattleboro boys and to get a brief vacation that would involve no peechmaking.

The excellent condition of the roads between here and Brattleboro. considering the size of the towns maintaining them, especially in Wood ford and Bennington, had so delighted the executive that he made a fiveminute speech complimenting the southern Vermont towns on their good road work and the spirit of cooperation which is everywhere manifest, not alone to keep them in as good or better condition but to pull into line other communities where there is greater dearth of interest. The governor stated that nothing was more indicative of this get-togeth er spirit than the junkets after the nature of the one at hand, and also the Good Roads days which are being held all over the state after the charlast March.

Especially did he compliment the state for better highways. He state supervision of all highways and that the towns of southern Vermont were rapidly becoming good pacemakers for other communities further north. A misunderstanding in regard to the arrival of the Bellows Falls Board of Trade here yesterday prevented the local board from dining the crowd in Bennington as they would have liked to do. Therefore, because the forty mile ride had been a good appetizer, the Bennington stop-over was somewhat shortened that the men might go to Williams town where dinner awaited them. The complete junket covers 195 miles. From Williamstown they went to North Adams, Pittsfield, Lenox, Lee, Westfield, and Springfield, stopping in Springfield tonight at the Kimball, as the guests of the Springfield board. They will arrive back in
